Mission

The conference Built Heritage 2013 - Monitoring Conservation Management has the ambitious mission to put together different professionals to present and discuss the most significant conservation and safeguarding projects for the architectural heritage around the world - according to several contexts, climates and management conditions.

The idea of the Conference is to focus the 3-days meeting in brain-storming and exchange of experiences, where important case studies will provide a wide overview of strategies, cutting-edge technologies and conservation practices for the protection against the main risks to the Built Cultural Heritage.
